

Potty Training Tip

Melissa K.

2010-12-30 08:49:22

Dix Hills, NY

Wait until your child is ready to potty train, rather than pushing him or her to potty train at a time that is convenient for you. When my daughter started pre-school the school required children to be potty trained or a parent would have to come change the diaper if they had a bowel movement. We made ourselves crazy the week before school started with little success. Several months later my daughter decided she was ready and started using the potty - never having an accident.